

JUDGE LAMBERT TO TRY MOLINEUX

Supreme Court Justice
from Fredonia, N. Y.,
Is Noted for Quick
Work.

HELD IN HIGH ESTEEM.

JUSTICE JOHN S. LAMBERT.

Supreme Court Justice John S. Lambert, of Fredonia, has been assigned to preside at the new trial of Roland B. Molineux, which will begin next Monday.

As an able Judge, expert in conducting the trial of difficult cases, Justice Lambert is held in high esteem in the Buffalo district. He gained some celebrity in the trial of Buffalo's Italian trunk mystery, when a woman's body was found cut up in a trunk, and turned out to be the wife of an Italian, Barone, who was found guilty and convicted. The case went to the Court of Appeals and was sent back for new trial before Justice Lambert. Barone was convicted of manslaughter. There was no second appeal.

Supreme Court Justice Lambert also presided at the famous Milks trial in Allegany County, when Milks was accused of shooting his brother, and convicted of murder in the second degree. Justice Lambert is noted for the dispatch with which he can clear a calendar with quick and thorough justice.

IN EVENING DRESS FOR DOUBLE CRIME

Young Philadelphian Invites Estranged Wife to Call and Dangerously Wounds Her
and Kills Himself.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Harry W. Patton, a young man who had been separated from his wife, attired himself in evening dress last night and, inviting his wife to call on him at his father's home, shot and seriously injured her as she entered the door and then took his own life.

The dramatic ending of his career seems to have been the result of family quarrels, which resulted in the separation of the young couple about two months ago. Favored wife twenty-three and his wife, Florence, was twenty.

Mrs. Patton is in a hospital in a very serious condition. The couple had been married about two years.

Mrs. Patton was led by her husband's invitation of yesterday to believe that he sought a reconciliation. When she entered his father's door she found him in evening dress, and, after greeting her, he drew the revolver on her. When she fell to the floor Patton shot and instantly killed himself.

Wealthy Long Island Farmer,
Deserted by Wife and Evicted from Home, in Court on Peculiar Charge.

John H. Cornell, a wealthy Long Island farmer, was arraigned in Long Island City Court this morning, charged with stealing his own property.

The technical charge is taking unlawful possession of a house and twenty-six acres of land at Springfield, L. I. This farm has been Cornell's home for thirty years. When he returned home from Wallabout Market, in Brooklyn, a few months ago Cornell found his wife, family and all the furniture gone from the house. A few weeks ago he was served with notice to vacate, and a paper disposing of the property and signed by him was shown to him.

Cornell then remembered putting his signature to a paper for his wife, but he did not know what it was at the time. He refused to move out and barricaded the doors, but last week he was evicted by order of Justice Ransquin. He is now living with a son.

Cornell has discovered that his wife disposed of the farm, worth $20,000, for $1,500. He does not know where she is. Magistrate Healey released Cornell on $300 bail.
